

Designers Michel Charriere and Joseph Achkar have restored an 18th-century former governor's residence in Jubayl, Lebanon. Breezes blow through the windows and doors of the central hall and over the fountain to cool the house. The lantern is from a mosque.

